Dear Freeman C Lewis,

We have reviewed the documentation of extenuating circumstances that you submitted after the initial denial of your application for a Direct PLUS Loan due to adverse credit. Based on this review, we have approved your appeal based on documentation of extenuating circumstances. The school has been notified.

- You must complete PLUS Credit Counseling, if you haven't done so recently on StudentAid.gov.
- You must also meet all other requirements for borrowing a Direct PLUS Loan.

Your school will tell you what loans, if any, you are eligible to receive. If you have questions regarding your loan eligibility, the next steps in the processing of your loan, such as when the loan will be disbursed (paid out), or if you no longer wish to receive the loan, contact your school.

After the first disbursement of your loan has been made, your loan will be assigned to a loan servicer and you will receive the servicer's name, address and contact information. Your servicer will service, answer questions about, and process payments on your loan after you enter repayment.

To view the list of servicers and their contact information, visit StudentAid.gov and select the "Who's My Servicer?" link under "Manage Loans".

Sincerely,

U.S. Department of Education
